

ENTHALPY

GENERAL MANAGER – PROJECT MANAGEMENT SERVICES

BRISBANE / PERTH / FLEXIBLE LOCATION

Summary

As a leading independent provider of advisory services, implementation support and business products to the resources sector, Enthalpy has helped owners of capital-intensive projects make the right investment decisions for more than 30 years.

A unique and exciting opportunity exists to join Enthalpy in Australia as General Manager of Project Management Services (PMS) working alongside the CEO and Management team. The General Manager PMS will be responsible for business development and project delivery in project delivery and advisory/consulting services.

Enthalpy's project management and delivery services encompass both delivery of new assets and acquisition of existing businesses by supporting the planning, controls and delivery of projects. To achieve these outcomes Enthalpy has developed a rigorous project development methodology which applies specifically to individual client's business and project delivery requirements. These include schedule control, cost trending and forecasting, risk management and scope definition.

The successful candidate will use their insight, entrepreneurial vision and expertise in projects to reach beyond traditional consulting boundaries. They will be backed by broad knowledge and experience that Enthalpy is renowned for.

This position allows for flexible engagement at a location of your choosing. Remuneration package and benefits will be commensurate with experience demonstrating successful outcome, and work arrangements. This may transition to include share of the company profits and equity as part of Enthalpy's growth plans.

Primary Functions

- ◆ Participate and drive the development and implementation of the strategic business plan, and business activities to ensure sustainable growth.
- ◆ Actively seek and engage customers to build client relationships and participate in the delivery of management of mining projects and studies, advisory/consulting assignments commensurate with the candidate's areas of expertise.
- ◆ Assist in and develop marketing efforts, submission of proposals and in reporting functions, including analysis of prospects, proposals, projects won, and overall company performance.

Required Experience

- ◆ A proven track record in generating good client relationships in a services industry with a broad industry contact network at senior and middle management levels, coupled with a track record not only to create assignment opportunities but also have the ability to deliver to meet client expectations and Enthalpy's business needs.
- ◆ >15 years' experience which incorporates project and study delivery, advisory/consulting, project management, project controls and/or operational management roles.
- ◆ World-wide experience in the mining sector (ideally).

About Enthalpy

Enthalpy is a leading independent provider of advisory services, implementation support and business products dedicated to optimising capital-intensive projects across the resources, energy and infrastructure sectors. Over three decades and 800+ projects, our thorough planning in bringing together the right people, processes and platforms has ensured the right projects are selected for investment and executed successfully, with minimal risk and optimal returns. We do this through our three integrated service offerings:

- ◆ Project Management Services and support for owners teams
- ◆ Independent Reviews of studies, investment proposals and project execution performance
- ◆ Management Consulting to support informed analytical decision-making. Our services are backed by Enthalpy's rigorous proprietary Capital Investment and Project Controls Systems.

To apply for this position please send your resumé and cover letter to enquiries@enthalpy.com.au.